WELCOME TO WINTER

It's time to rug up for the winter edition of Prospect Magazine, which focuses on community and some exciting changes happening in the neighbourhood. Winter is a time of ritual, reflection and renewal, for nurturing the spirit and feeding the soul. While the winter solstice delivers the shortest day of the year, it also represents the end of a cycle and the start of days getting longer. This means it's a great time to celebrate with friends over warm food, hot chocolate and red wine while knowing that sunny days are ahead!

THE WINTER GARDEN

While winter can be a challenging time to get outside and stay active, the cooler temperatures mean you can take on some of the bigger tasks in the garden without raising a sweat! It's the ideal time to get the whole garden ready for spring, and it only takes a few steps:

1. Tidy up loose leaves, twigs, bark & refresh mulch
2. Unclog drains & gutters to prevent flooding
3. Aerate your lawn to get your grass looking healthy again
4. Plant new veggies, but keep seedlings sheltered

VEGGIES TO PLANT NOW:

PLANTS THAT CREATE A WINTER SPECTACLE:

Cyclamens Cyclamens tianis violet sp.
Cyclamens suit both indoor and outdoor pots. Flowers provide colour for months and come many variations.

Snowdrops Galanthus nivalis
The first sight of their white nodding flower heads signals winter is ending. These plants are very hardy, and the colder the weather, the longer the flowers.

Kiwi Blue Honeywort
A hardy winter perennial, Honeywort enjoys being planted in full or part sun areas. They accept a wide variety of soils as long as drainage is good. Their beautiful colours look stunning against a grey or silver-leaved plant such as Lambs' Ears, (Stachys byzantine).

Mudra Dance Company's Bollywood performance at Prospect Fair

2016 PROSPECT FAIR – BOLLYWOOD FUN FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Hosted by the effervescent Katie Wright, the 39th annual Prospect Fair featured a Bollywood theme and filled the beautiful St Helens Park with colour, movement and a an abundance of entertainment.

The Mudra Dance Academy and Rooh Punjab Dee Bhangrah Dance groups were hugely popular, whirling with a profusion of colour and lively dance steps, backed by irresistible Indian folk and movie music. Irish dancers and the Roosters Football Club Cheerleaders added to the spectacle, while the Fiddle Chicks and singers Jen Uebergang & Torres Strait Islander Eddie Peters impressed with their vocal prowess.

50 local community groups, including schools, service clubs, kindergartens, environmental and resident groups set up vibrant red-themed stalls selling food, bric-a-brac, plants and books as they raised funds to support their programs. Great bargains and roving entertainers completed a day of free entertainment for everyone, catering for the youngest kids all the way through to those still young at heart.

The best dressed stall, judged by Mayor David O’Loughlin and always hotly contested, was awarded to the St Helen’s Park Kindergarten, with St John Ambulance a fine runner up. Cash prizes were awarded in recognition of the hard work and creative efforts of our local community groups.

City of Prospect welcomed back Bendigo Bank Prospect branch (Northpark) as the event’s lead sponsor for the fourth year, showing why they’re ‘Bigger than a bank’ through their support for our local community event.

Next year we will be celebrating the Fair’s 40th year, so 2017 will really be party time. Plug it in to your calendars now!

WHITE BOX READY FOR TRANSFORMATION

Visitors enjoying the dynamic art of the recent 2015 Prospect Portrait Prize.

Prospect Gallery is roughly 63m² in area, with simple whitewashed walls enveloping an open and airy space, which is transformed with each and every exhibition accommodated within it.

The Prospect Arts Action Network (PAAN) wants to fill this white box with the powerful and the beautiful in 2017 and is inviting proposals for new art exhibitions that consider audience experience or interaction.

The Gallery seeks works that give an audience the opportunity to experience something new, thought-provoking, challenging and memorable.

Artists are invited to exhibit innovative artwork or events using any media including visual, sound, installation, conceptual, performance, or multi-disciplinary; the space is a platform to open communication with its visitors.

As a community gallery, submissions are invited from artists not represented by a gallery, making it an ideal space for emerging to mid-career artists. Local, individual artists, small scale groups, art collectives, or independent curators are encouraged to apply for an exhibition. Gallery Coordinator, Emma Fry, would love to hear from all artists to talk over ideas prior to submitting an application.

Applications for exhibitions in the 2017 program close 19 August 2016.

Why not pop in to Prospect Gallery during opening hours Tuesday to Sunday and visualise your work within the vibrant, fresh white box that is Prospect Gallery? Or check out previous exhibitions at the gallery website.

THE HUMAN COCOON PROJECT

you’re probably thinking!

The Human Cocoon project is a concept that started with the idea of making and creating from the world around us, using natural fibres to build a cocoon fit for a human. Just as a nest or cocoon is created in nature, each cocoon is made from locally found and recycled materials.

Built to human scale, the cocoons are designed to engage and surprise whilst sparking your curiosity and imagination; provoking questions about the creature that dwells within, the human condition and our place within our own ecosystem.

You will find the cocoons in RL Pash Reserve, Broadview Oval and the corner of Main North and Regency Roads. These local creations have the power to change your everyday; on a walk to the shops, travelling to work, or a day out in our parks, altering ever so slightly our day ahead, while reflecting on the places we live.

Working with locals and community groups such as the Men’s Shed and Knitty Gritty, three workshops were held to construct and install the cocoons:

- THE GATHERING – collecting local, pre-loved objects
- THE BUILD – weaving, gluing, tying and cladding the cocoons
- THE FASTENING – rigging cocoons into their final locations

The project was developed by artists Sophie Button, Michelle Delany, and Techy Masero, as part of the 2016 Prospect Public Artist in Residence Program.

SHOWCASING INDIGENOUS MUSIC

Recognising and celebrating Reconciliation Week through music

National Reconciliation Week is celebrated across Australia each year between 27 May and 3 June. The dates commemorate two significant milestones in the reconciliation journey; the anniversaries of the successful 1967 referendum and the High Court Mabo decision in 1994.

The week is a time for all Australians to learn about our shared histories, cultures and achievements, and to explore how each of us can join the national reconciliation effort.

City of Prospect was excited to celebrate 2016 Reconciliation Week with an afternoon of outstanding contemporary Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander music and dance to be held in the Prospect Town Hall.

On Sunday 5 June, a Welcome to Country ceremony was followed by a youth indigenous dance performance, live art demonstration featuring emerging and established indigenous artists, and live bands.

In a Prospect first, we worked in partnership with Aboriginal Community Connect, Prospect; Tandanya National Aboriginal Cultural Institute Inc, Adelaide; Centre for Aboriginal Studies in Music (CASM) at Adelaide University; Kurruru Youth Performing Arts, Port Adelaide and Nexus Arts, Adelaide to present this exciting indigenous music ‘showcase’ in association with our own Club5082 fortnightly live music program.

MAKE THE MOST OF YOUR RECYCLING

Did you know that plastic lids can be recycled?

All hard plastic lids can be put into your recycling bin, including caps from bottles (shampoo, water, soft-drinks etc.), flip-top lids (sauce, mayonnaise), and laundry detergent lids - in other words, most hard plastic lids that are not floppy or breakable (like yoghurt tub lids).

And a clever way to see them recycled is to collect them in a plastic container, like an empty milk bottle. When your container is full, simply place the whole thing into the recycling (yellow lid) bin.

Once collected, the lids are sorted by plastic type at a Materials Recovery Facility and sent on their way to a specialised plastic processing plant.

They're then granulated into small pieces, in preparation for melting. But before that can happen, the granules are thoroughly washed to remove any contaminants, such as paper labels and dirt. Once the plastic has been cleaned and melted down, it is extruded into small pellets ready for re-use. The recycled plastic can be used to make new containers, such as bottles and buckets, or to create fabric, carpet and upholstery.

FUN FACT: Recycling one tonne of plastic bottles saves 3.8 barrels of oil (that's around 600 litres!) and saves 5 cubic metres of waste going to landfill.

PREVENTING PIGEON PROBLEMS

The number of feral pigeons in an area is directly related to the availability of a sustainable food supply. The most effective way of discouraging pigeons from taking up residence around your home is to avoid feeding them, and by removing any potential food sources such as pet food. City of Prospect asks all residents to remove food sources from their properties to reduce breeding and to discourage pigeons from settling in the area.

Why not have a working bee and enjoy the day with friends!

CLEAR OUT YOUR GUTTER TRASH

A little gutter cleaning may not be the most glamorous thing you've ever done, but it may save you calling emergency services in the middle of a downpour.

Leaves, silt and other debris that build up over time can cause gutters to become clogged and may lead to costly repairs, which could have been avoided by regularly cleaning your gutters.

Now is a great time to get started and prevent potential water damage to your property before winter really sets in.

TOP 5 TIPS TO KEEP WARM IN WINTER

Heating your home can quickly add to your winter energy bills, but by making a few simple changes you can minimise your energy costs and still have a cosy home.

- 1. In winter, use the sun to help heat your home for free. Open curtains and blinds during the day and move anything blocking out the light, such as external blinds.
- 2. Heating can be lost through your ceiling and walls, and insulation is an effective way of reducing this loss. If you don't have ceiling insulation, consider having it installed. If you rent, ask your landlord if they will have it installed.

- 3. Check for gaps or cracks in walls or windows and below doors which will let your heating escape. Stop draughts by filling the gaps and installing door seals.
- 4. Choose the best heater for your needs based on the area you need to heat, and use it efficiently. Close doors to unused rooms so you only heat the areas that are occupied. A reverse-cycle air conditioner (split system) is generally the most efficient and cheapest type of heater.
- 5. If your heater has a thermostat, consider setting it between 18°C-21°C. Make sure you maintain your heater according to the manufacturer's instructions so it keeps running well.

PROSPECT COMMUNITY GARDEN - DIG IT!

Prospect residents are welcome to get involved in the local community garden, which was established as a place to grow food, share a love of gardening, participate in healthy outdoor recreation and for people to be involved in a local environmental project.

The garden operates on a 'shared gardening' model, rather than an allocation of individual plots. This means everyone gets to contribute across the breadth of the garden activities and then share in the beautiful, fresh produce.

Community members, from beginners through to experienced green thumbs, work together to grow vegetables, fruit, herbs, flowers and indigenous plants. Each gardener works to their own physical capability, while a variety of interests and roles are catered for.

Regular activities at the garden include workshops on environmental topics such as composting, organic gardening, propagating and worm farms. Features of the garden include a children's garden, an indigenous garden complete with a native bee hotel, worm farms and several espaliered fruit trees. The garden also promotes creative recycling and garden art, and welcomes visitors during opening hours.

PERFECT PARKS FOR DOGS OFF LEASH

We know that dogs love to run, but streets and footpaths are not always an ideal place for our best friends to get their exercise. To ensure the safety of all members of our community, dogs must be kept on a leash at all times while being walked along public streets and footpaths. To let dogs have a run while off leash, City of Prospect maintains a fenced dog park adjacent Broadview Oval, which is equipped with a dog drinking fountain, tunnels, a slalom run and a sheltered area. There are also several other parks within the Council area where dogs can be exercised off leash at certain times (check the signs in each park before removing your dog's leash).

Doggy (doo) do's

It is your responsibility to clean up after your dog. Many parks within City of Prospect have 'poop bag' dispensers, but you should always take your own bags in case there is no dispenser or it is empty. If you notice someone not picking up their dog's waste, offer them a spare bag from your own supply as a gentle reminder. If you notice waste from another dog that has been left at a park or on the footpath, be a great resident and clean it up so the area is a more pleasant experience for everyone.

Doggy don'ts

Don't forget that as a dog owner, you are responsible for your pet's behaviour at all times, even when in off-leash areas. Remember that your dog must not be allowed to harass, attack, stalk, mount or otherwise intimidate other dogs or people. If your dog is not acting in a sociable manner, please remove it from the dog park. It only takes one dog to upset the balance at a dog park, so don't let that dog be yours.

ALL ABOARD THE COMMUNITY BUS

Local Prospect resident, Antony Boucher, making the most of the bus.

City of Prospect's Community Buses are easily recognisable as they negotiate the leafy streets of our city with a team of dedicated volunteers providing door to door services to (mostly) older residents. The Community Bus allows an increased level of independent living for many of the more vulnerable members of in the community.

However, a lot of the services run are not limited to these residents. While many of our social programs are run for Commonwealth Home Support Program (CHSP) clients, regular services such as the library run, shopping trips and day tours are available for all residents of City of Prospect.

Local Prospect resident Antony Boucher, makes use of the bus to enjoy various social programs including the Friday shopping service and monthly day trips to regional places of interest, as well as metropolitan trips including the Adelaide Zoo, Central Market and community lunches.

The newest Community Bus program is run in cooperation with Regency Medical Clinic, providing a pick-up and return home service for those attending doctors' appointments. Council operates two community buses, one of which is fitted with a hydraulic wheelchair ramp to cater for those with a mobility disability.

If someone you know could benefit from this service, please get in touch.

ACTION, ADVENTURE
AND AFFECTION:
OUR ANZAC STORY

Long-time resident Brian Johnson enjoys a quiet life in the leafy surrounds of Prospect, far away from the adventures of his life as a young man.

Arriving in Australia from the United Kingdom at the tender age of 15, Brian soon found work on a NSW farm before joining the Army in 1967 in search of excitement and adventure. His adventurous spirit saw him following in the footsteps of both his grandfather and father, who respectively served in World War One and Two.

Brian served as a Royal Guard for Prince Phillip as a Right Marker, but his outstanding contribution to Australia came in 1969 when he was transferred to the front line of the Vietnam War. In August of the same year, Brian and his platoon came into contact with a bunker and he received serious injuries during the ensuing battle. He began his road to recovery in a hospital in Vung Tau and once well enough to travel, was transferred to Butterworth airbase in Malaysia, then to Richmond airbase in Sydney, then back to Daw Park Repatriation Hospital in Adelaide.

Brian met a nurse named Joyce and they married in January 1971. They raised two children together and have now lived in Prospect for over 17 years.

CALLING ALL PARK ANGELS, WE WANT YOU!

Are you a frequent visitor and admirer of the Memorial Gardens playspace? You might be interested in becoming a Park Angel to help ‘put the toys away’ and complement the efforts of Council’s Park Maintenance team.

The sandpit and artificial creek of the playspace have quickly become much loved by local children who can be seen on any day, morning and afternoon, busily building dam walls, creating ponds, creating imaginative sand sculptures and earnestly moving sticks, pebbles and stones throughout the whole play area. It’s clear that kids absolutely love exploring, creating and interacting with the playspace’s elements.

Much of this creative work presents something of a maintenance challenge for Council’s Parks Maintenance team, who work hard to keep all of the city’s park facilities in good order, but can’t always be there to tidy up the toys at Memorial Gardens.

That’s where Park Angels come in. City of Prospect is currently looking for volunteers to help place the nature play elements back into place; to help keep the sand within the sand pit, the stones along the creek bed, the bark chips off the paths, the garden beds tidy, and generally help keep the play areas fresh for the next group of young visitors.

If you are interested in becoming a Park Angel, City of Prospect would love to hear from you!

LOCAL COMMUNITY CHAMPIONS

City of Prospect hosted an event for local volunteers to celebrate and recognise their invaluable assistance as part of National Volunteer Week in May. Awards were presented to those who made a significant voluntary contribution to the community.

Please join City of Prospect in congratulating Individual Award winners Jodie Aberle, Dr Robert Irving, Ehsan Danish, Fred Reynolds, Susan Williams, Sarah Dunn, Roderick Bish, Deborah Oaten, Lois Webster, Michael Lidstone, Megan Davies, and David Drew. Also recognised was Local Business Award winner, Jeffries Soil, for their generous support of Council’s popular Veggie Verge program.

National Volunteer Week is an annual celebration to acknowledge the generous contribution of volunteers across South Australia. The campaign theme, Give Happy, Live Happy, is based on research findings that revealed volunteers live happier and healthier lives. Give volunteering a go today and you too could be part of next year’s celebrations!

See the award winners on page 22!

NOT DEFINED BY DISABILITY

As of the 2012 Census, approximately one in five people in the Australian community have some form of disability. Ensuring an inclusive community, which enables people with a disability to fulfil their potential, requires a reduction in barriers formed by attitudes, practices and structures.

STAR Inc (Skill Teaching and Resources Incorporated) is based in Broadview, and is a local community organisation that works towards this vision; recognising that a person with a disability is an individual first, and not defined by their disability.

Their work focuses upon providing support to those wishing to live independently within their own home, which is an important rite of passage for all of us in the transition to adulthood. Shopping, cooking, paying bills, budgeting and negotiating lease agreements can be a challenge for some, while representing real barriers for those with a disability who want to live independently.

Dedicated staff and a committed team of volunteers are the backbone of this service. If you (or someone you know) might benefit from this support, please get in touch with the friendly folk at STAR Inc.

GETTING CREATIVE WITH APPLIQUETTE

City of Prospect warmly welcomes Appliquette to the local business community, who have taken up residence in the Little City co-working studio at 118 Prospect Road. Appliquette focus on building digital designs for business startups and national brands. They are a successful consultancy specialising in mobile app development, web development, and virtual and augmented reality, having developed tailored solutions for national brands such as WokinaBox.

Appliquette developers, proficient in both iOS and Android platforms, work with entrepreneurs to understand their needs while helping them to fully formulate their business idea – and monetise it. The team is dedicated to finding a ‘new solution to a new problem’.

The Appliquette team is a blend of six entrepreneurs and web developers, with the majority being self-taught creatives with impressive portfolios. The business team has grown from a pair within two years and Director, Andrew Osborne, anticipates more developers will be needed in the future.

Andrew contacted Council’s Business and Economic Development team after hearing about Council’s pro-active approach to supporting business and learning more about its unique offerings through Network Prospect. Following discussion on Appliquette’s specific space and data requirements, the Network Prospect team considered available options and introduced Andrew to Little City Studio owner, Dave Menner.

Appliquette were impressed with the city’s unique high speed nbn fibre-to-the-premises infrastructure. They’d previously struggled with their internet connection, which wasn’t capable of handling the data movement required for the business to thrive.

Andrew, a long time Prospect resident, loves the convenience and flexibility of the new space, the unparalleled speed of the nbn fibre connection, as well as being close to home and the neighbouring Café Komodo.

If you’re looking for web and mobile solutions for your business, you’ll be pleased to hear that Appliquette offers a free initial consultation to go over your ideas for app development. Get in touch with Andrew today!

EXPAND YOUR BUSINESS – TO CHINA AND BEYOND!

Following the inaugural trade delegation visit to Shandong Province in Southern China, City of Prospect has been actively working to give its business community a unique advantage in the China market by building relationships linking them directly to where there are growth opportunities.

“At a time when parts of our local economy are in decline, and the eastern states continue to be self-absorbed, China presents an unparalleled opportunity for new growth in key sectors of the South Australian economy, and it’s critical that City of Prospect’s business community gets part of this pie,” said Mayor David O’Loughlin.

City of Prospect is perfectly positioned to open doors for local businesses to this potentially huge Chinese marketplace, due to the strength of the government-to-government relations now in place through the State Government sister state relationship with Shandong Province and a variety of sister city arrangements with SA councils within Shandong,” he said.

Inbound mission to Adelaide

City of Prospect has already hosted two delegations of potential business migrants and investors who were given a tour of our city and residential investment opportunities. At least one more investment group is expected to visit in mid 2016 to meet local businesses and explore partnership opportunities.

Local business and China workshop

City of Prospect ran a workshop with Mawson Global, specialists in global sourcing and international manufacturing, to help companies maximise their global commercial potential. This saw 11 Prospect businesses explore how to:

- identify the most exportable products or services
- generate savings from global sourcing
- minimise risks associated with importing
- use global sources to drive innovation and productivity in their business
- put a dollar value on the opportunities China could bring to their business

SASD Connect

A bilingual English/Chinese website has been established for the sole purpose of profiling South Australian businesses, and trade and investment opportunities between South Australia and Shandong. This website gives City of Prospect’s small businesses listed on it a unique competitive advantage by profiling them in a supported framework that has been promoted to over a thousand pre-qualified Shandong businesses. To register your business, head to www.sasdconnect.com.au/register

Prohibition Liquor Co. (PLC) is one such local company that has been accepted onto the site. They are looking to source glass bottles (currently sourced from France), timber top synthetic cork stoppers (currently sourced from Italy) and potentially, the production and application of labels. In the near future, PLC wants to export their hand-made, small batch gin to China, recognising it as a lucrative growth market.

2016 outbound mission to Shandong

Mayor David O’Loughlin and Ginny Moon (Council’s Director of Corporate Services) represented City of Prospect businesses as part of the 2016 outbound mission to Shandong. This mission was an important milestone, forging invaluable relationships that will continue to develop City of Prospect’s local economy for the 21st century.

“Student exchanges with schools in Jinan and Zibo, property investment and development in Prospect, business migration and high tech research and development are just some of the positive outcomes reinforcing City of Prospect’s leading role in economic development. Meetings with local medical practitioners and the AMA are now underway to explore exporting medical expertise using NBN fibre connection to trial Hisense Electronics’ new appliances,” said Mayor O’Loughlin.

Expanding your business to China and beyond!

All of these initiatives provide City of Prospect businesses with a unique environment to supercharge their investment, trade and engagement with China. In the next decade, there will be an increasing number of opportunities for professional services to tap into the China market and our home-based businesses are well-positioned to provide professional advice in a wide range of fields. With Australia’s economy in transition from the resources boom, China offers a prime market for the goods and services that are going to drive our new economy.

CAN YOU SEE YOUR BUSINESS ON TV?

Adelaide community television station Channel 44 has a unique opportunity for City of Prospect businesses to be seen on TV. Local businesses can have a 15 second TV commercial produced and aired over 80 times during prime time, for a period of eight weeks, for just $2,200.

LIBRARYPLUS SURVEY WINNER!

Earlier this year, the community were invited to help shape Prospect Library's LibraryPLUS project; defining the future of City of Prospect library services. The consultation asked for fresh and bright ideas, and over 500 people completed an online survey to provide their insight. Those entering the survey were eligible to go into the draw to win a child's balance bike.

We received an overwhelming response to the survey and really appreciate everyone's feedback, which will be instrumental in shaping the future direction of our library services. In our next edition, we will update you on the findings of the consultation.

Congratulations go to Lucie Haskett, winner of the children's retro balance bike!

BEHIND THE SCENES AT THE CINEMA

In 2008 the Maras Group, a South Australian-based commercial and retail property investment and development outfit, purchased a row of retail shop and factory buildings in the Prospect Road Village Heart with the long-term intention of redeveloping the site. In the subsequent years, while refining their proposal for the site and tackling a variety of planning and design challenges, they granted short term leases to a number of small retail businesses.

Changes to urban corridor planning rules in 2014 presented Maras Group with an opportunity to propose the building of a four storey 1930s Art Deco-inspired cinema complex. Following a comprehensive assessment process by Council, development approval was granted for a four-storey building with:

- up to 6 retail shops, cafes or restaurants on the ground floor,
- 14 exclusive boutique cinemas over two levels (to be operated by Palace Nova Cinemas), and
- 1,100m² of office space on the top floor featuring balconies and stunning views in all directions.

The complex will be of the highest standard of design and finish, incorporating many classic architectural elements while paying homage to the rich history of the site. As you may have already noticed, demolition of the site has already occurred as the first step in a 12-month building program, with construction expected to commence soon.

It is anticipated the development will generate in excess of 350 jobs (during and after construction), contributing to the growing hive of activity in the Prospect Road Village Heart. Council is working closely with the builders to ensure that construction occurs in a way that minimises potential for disturbance to surrounding residents and businesses.

The cinemas will be boutique in nature and unlike anything else seen in South Australia

Steve Maras, Group Managing Director and CEO of Maras Group, said “We spent several years designing a building that was going to be a perfect fit for this site and that would accommodate a range of complementary mixed uses. The cinemas will be boutique in nature and unlike anything else seen in South Australia, with some of the smaller cinemas catering for 25–30 people. We are developing a strong mix of retail and food operators on the ground level to complement the cinemas and hope to deliver a product that will provide a vibrant, entertainment-based centre operating seven days a week.”

Mr Barry Peak of Palace Nova Cinemas said “Prospect will screen the same quality mix of films as in the East End, but will expand into a wider range of films to cater to the suburban/lifestyle market of the area. From talking to the City of Prospect and surrounding communities, we know they want local entertainment in their precinct and are keenly anticipating the new entertainment hub that Palace Nova will be a key part of.”

This important development is a milestone project and will stand as an example of how a supportive community and effective planning policy can deliver positive change for our city. We look forward to seeing you at the movies!

It's actually happening! The new cinema complex is finally underway and the buzz in the air is palpable. Locals know it will be transformative for the street, the suburb and the inner north.

The 14 fully licensed cinemas, some as small as 24 seats, will be the first cinemas on Prospect Road for over fifty years. The six shops on ground level will be the first new shops in ten years, and the entire top floor will be offices – the first new offices of this scale since the Council's own.

Nearly as tall as the 1915 St Cuthbert's Church, it will be the tallest new building in over one hundred years – and the views from the top floor will capture the imagination of many locals thinking about apartment living in the Village Heart.

And, like the Bunnings development, it will help shift the rate burden from householders to our main road corridor property developers – fundamental to achieving the rating balance many neighbouring Councils enjoy.

That's exactly why we keep investing in beautifying Prospect Road. Only two more stages to go and this project, over 15 years in the making, will be complete – and the north of our city will enjoy the same high quality as the south.

Investment is critical if we are to continue to drive developers out of our beautiful side streets and onto our development corridors. Whilst Churchill Road and Prospect Road are off to a start, the abundant opportunities on Main North Road are yet to be realised and this is no doubt related to its tired appearance.

Thank you for all the fabulous feedback we received on our masterplan ideas for upgrading this important corridor. Your ideas will help us ignite the potential of this understated city artery.

We must do (and we are doing) more to attract investors, including Chinese investor delegations – the first who visited in late April. They were very impressed with our city, our focus on the future, our commitment to high technology and the fabulous amenity our city offers.

Our China visit in April was the catalyst, where we capitalised on the strong relationship the State Government have developed with Shandong province – making our participation in the recent trade mission very cost effective. Importantly, it provided City of Prospect a highly credible foothold in what is the world's second largest economy.

Through the sister city relationship our Adelaide City Council neighbour has with the coastal port City of Qingdao, we were able to establish a relationship with Hisense Electronics – a global leader in consumer electronics, headquartered in Qingdao. They are also an emerging provider of traffic management and health diagnostics technologies.

They have welcomed our invitation to discuss utilising our city's fibre to the premises technology – as we are the only Council in SA to be fully fibered – to progress research and development in four areas: organic traffic management, online health diagnostics, smart appliances and appliance activation.

The search for local partners is on. If you or your company would like to participate in cutting edge applied research, please contact me. Our Council is committed to creating jobs right here, for us and our children, using any advantage available to us, including you – our creative and energetic community!

Keep up the great work!

FINDING INSPIRATION

Since retiring from paid work a few months ago, as a self-funded retiree I've been able to commit even more time to my Elected Member activities. These include attending informative meetings such as the Lord Mayor's Light Rail Summit, Eastern Business Centre breakfast, Rate Capping Forum, tours of various libraries (ideas for our new LibraryPlus building), Conflict of Interest training for Elected Members, Prospect Fair, Network Prospect working group and launch.

I provided feedback on Adelaide City Council's Draft Adelaide Parklands Management Strategy to encourage improved linkages for pedestrians and cyclists between our neighbour council and to the State Government and political parties on the Planning, Development and Infrastructure Bill 2015.

I joined with other advocates including Council, Prospect Local History Group and Prospect Residents Association gaining 61 of 80 Local Heritage Places plus an additional 5 Historic Conservation Policy Areas agreed to by SA Government. This will assist in balancing growth and character preservation with further embodied energy savings through greater demolition control across a wider area of Council. Along with other Prospect Local History Group members, I have been photographing our main roads' buildings preserving images for future generations.

This is in addition to my regular Council activities including Eastern Health Authority Board, Audit Committee, Citizenship Ceremonies and a 'champion' on Council's Business & Economic Development and Infrastructure Assets & Environment directorates.

Occasionally inspiration strikes and I was pleased Council took up my idea of additional consultation on our draft 2020 Strategic Plan at Prospect's Twilight Concerts and Prospect Fair with Elected Members and staff. Thanks to over 600 people who provided their feedback.

It's inspirational to talk to local entrepreneurs such as Adam Carpenter (Toolbox Graphic Design & Prohibition Liquor Co – gin distiller); Marissa and James Schulze (High Rise Financial Solutions & multiple award winners); Dave and Leah Menner (who established 'Little City Studio' co-working space at 118 Prospect Road).

I'm told that Prospect Local Environment Group is gearing up for its 2016 Giant Garage Sale on 22 October and would appreciate small bric-a-brac donations (contact Grace on 0405 583 660).

Happy to chat with you!

DATA
CRUNCH

I am a data nerd. There, I've said it. I love facts and figures, and I have found data to be incredibly useful during my time on Council. Data balances out the sentiment and assumptions, and provides the facts and figures to inform important decisions.

There are various sources of information available, but sometimes you need to dig a little to find it. The Census gives us a high level snapshot of our community (below) and the ability to see changes over time.

Census QuickStats (censusdata.abs.gov.au)

City of Prospect LGA	2001	2006	2011
People	18,367	19,294	19,955
Families	4,834	4,846	5,101
Total Dwellings	8,553	8,610	8,767
Avg Vehicles per Dwelling	–	–	1.6

Council's quarterly information report is another great source, as it goes into detail on how your money is spent, what efficiencies have been made and how our activities serve the needs of our community.

It's also important to make better use of the information we already have, and asking the right questions can reveal answers that we may already have at our fingertips. Sometimes it's necessary to fund projects to gather more data, where census information and internal reports are not enough. Enquiries from residents to Council can indicate current trends and help with determining future needs.

What other data would you like your Council to provide? I'm a great supporter of 'Open Data' and competed in the 2015 GovHack app challenge, where teams use publicly available datasets to make computer applications. "Open data is when certain data is made freely available to everyone to use and republish as they wish, without restrictions from copyright, patents or other mechanisms of control. Open Data delivers transparency, supports collaboration between private and public sector and encourages informed participation in Government by citizens." <http://digital.sa.gov.au/resources/topic/open-data>

If you are interested in joining me at the 2016 GovHack event this July, further information is available at <http://uladl.com/>. Please get in touch if you would like to talk more about data, technology, or just to have a coffee and a chat.

WHY ARE YOU HERE?

Have you ever thought about why you chose to live in City of Prospect? Some people have been here their whole life and have an incredible story of the change they have seen over the last 50, 60 and even 70 years. Others are new residents to the area, and even to Australia.

But everyone has a story about why they live in their particular suburb. I love being here - Prospect has a real sense of community with great neighbours, good schools and fantastic local shops - and I think it's a great place to raise my children.

But community is created by the people within it. Over my past six years on council, I've had the privilege of being part of the decision making process for community based awards including community service, volunteer, and local business awards, and also the citizen of the year. These all show us the brave, the talented, the dedicated and the selfless members of our community that we might not otherwise see.

“... community is created by the people within it.”

I think our council has a role to play in creating a sense of community. Whether it's helping to make events happen such as Tourific Prospect, Twilight Concerts or the St Helen's Fair, providing support to our older residents with in home help, giving our young people something to do, or supporting new and innovative businesses into our shopping precincts. These are the roles we play - but are they the right ones? I always like hearing whether what we are doing is on the right mark from our most important stakeholders - our community.

As we head into the colder winter months, it's also a great chance for you to play your role. Take the opportunity to chat to a neighbour that you haven't met yet, visit someone who finds it hard to get out of the house, or register to volunteer with a local service group. Whatever you do, you are helping to make our community what it is.

ON A BUDGET

Prospect Council's Draft Annual Business Plan 2016–2017 is an important compilation. It's well worth the read (all 150 pages) and is available to download from Council's website.

The Draft Annual Business Plan ('Budget') spells out the specific projects Council plans to embark on over the coming 12 months.

The section of footpath on Regency Road between Prospect Road and Main North Road is proposed to be re-constructed during 2018. A few of our 'Green Neighbourhoods' initiatives, focusing on movement and connecting our community are proposed. Making the most of limited open space around Prospect Estate, the Railway Park and Irish Harp Reserve through considering design improvements are just a few of the many plans and initiatives that are detailed in the Draft Annual Business Plan.

"... this is an important starting point to understanding the complexities of Council's financial position and budgeting process."

Should reading the whole 150 pages sound daunting, my advice would be to start with page 31 (the Long Term Financial Plan – Financial Indicators Dashboard). While this page does not include headline numbers around residential rates, it does provide an important overview of the financial position of council, both now, and over a number of years.

In my view, this is an important starting point to understanding the complexities of Council's financial position and budgeting process, showing how our operating result is forecast to return to surplus in 2017/2018 (2.6% surplus) with the impact of borrowings required to fund capital projects including a new library and Power Line Environment Committee (PLEC) impacting our Net Financial Liabilities and Asset Sustainability Ratios.

I encourage you to take a read, and please let me know if you have any thoughts or feedback.

LET'S NOT FORGET IT

In another life, I used to write brochures for a major electricity provider on ways to save energy in the home.

So I'm all too aware of the challenge at this time of year when it comes to efficiently heating your home. Most new homes these days must reach a certain energy rating of 6 stars, but most of us in the Prospect area don't live in new homes, with many now pushing a hundred years old.

These lovely old character homes were built to meet the needs of another time. Gas powered lights called for ventilation in the walls, and those lovely tall ceilings had a bad habit of keeping all the heat up high.

"... just because you're in a room doesn't mean you have to heat it all."

So I thought I'd share a few heating and energy-saving tips that cost little or no money but should help to maximise your existing heating efforts and maybe even save you a few bob.

Firstly, just because you're in a room doesn't mean you have to heat it all. Many times you just need to heat you. Pop on a jumper and save some money.

Gaps around external doors and windows, and of course those wall vents, are all letting heat (and money) escape. Look at blocking off those character vents the next time you paint. And a simple 'door snake' will keep all the heat inside where it belongs.

Our wonderful high ceilings trap heat up above where it's no use. Most modern ceiling fans have a reverse function. Set the fan on low and push the warm air back down to where it's needed.

And finally, carpets and curtains may be old school, but they are fantastic insulators. If you have hard floors, maybe consider popping down a rug during the winter months.

I hope these tips have been helpful. Stay warm and remember every little saving is also good for our planet.

#AREWEONTRACK

Council's draft 2020 Strategic Plan outlines a series of objectives that Council wants to fulfil over the next four years on behalf of its community. From the day-to-day services that are required of every local government body, through to the many programs tailored to the specific needs of our community, the Strategic Plan sets the course for Council's activities and ensures that we remain on the right track.

This year's Tourrific Prospect event kicked off public consultation on the details of the draft Strategic Plan, which continued in various forms over the subsequent nine weeks. The purpose of consultation was to get feedback from the community (including residents, business owners and visitors) on what Council should prioritise for the next four years. Over 200 local residents were personally engaged by Council staff and Elected Members throughout this process, which included marquees at Council's Twilight Concerts and the Community Fair. An online survey complemented the face-to-face discussion, drawing detailed written responses from 425 people.

Congratulations to local resident Todd Simcock, one of our survey respondents and the lucky winner of the 2020 Strategic Plan Bike Competition. "Thank you to the City of Prospect for providing an avenue for feedback into the Council's Strategic Plan; . And my wife has already claimed ownership (of the bike)!" said Todd.

The results of the extensive community consultation, which showed that Council's priorities were generally in line with the wishes of the community, were presented to Council for consideration. As a result of the survey outcomes, we're confident that we are on the right track to deliver the services, programs and initiatives that our community needs.

Over 600 people provided input into the consultation!

CITY OF PROSPECT

MEET YOUR CHANNEL 44

Meet passionate storyteller and TV Producer, Lauren Hillman, General Manager of your very own local community television station, Channel 44, which recently moved into City of Prospect!

When Lauren first took over Channel 44 (C44) in late 2015, the station was located in an old studio in Payneham. Lauren knew that if there was any chance of growing the station, they would have to move premises immediately. "Being based right on Payneham Road, it was extremely noisy, there was no heating/cooling, hot water, let alone any production facilities or space to inspire a new team of volunteers. I knew if we had any chance of survival, we needed to get out of there!" Lauren said.

For the better part of ten years, Lauren worked as a Producer/Director for ABC TV in Collinswood on shows such as Talking Heads, The Cook and the Chef, Poh's Kitchen, Dream Build, Poh Lends a Hand, Maggie's Christmas, and a documentary series she wrote, directed and produced, called The Daters. But by the end of 2014, Lauren was made redundant alongside 40 of her colleagues during a round of ABC budget cuts, which also resulted in the closure of ABC TV in Adelaide after 65 years.

Lauren was fortunate to be offered various roles as a Producer for Channel Nine, but it wasn't until the C44 position was presented to her that Lauren saw a massive opportunity. She had a crazy idea – that made perfect sense, but she knew it would be a very long shot.

She decided to contact her former colleagues at the ABC in the hope that there may be an opportunity to lease the now spare space in the building on North East Road. After many emails, phone calls and long negotiations with ABC's commercial board in Sydney, Lauren finally obtained approval for C44 to move in.

"I never thought it would actually be a reality!" said Lauren. "No one has independently leased space in the ABC at Collinswood in over 10 years! I was so excited at the possibilities and doors that this would open for us; that we would have access to production facilities in a building totally built for production." The move to a new environment inspired a new team with new equipment, and was a major triumph for C44.

But a move to the new premises isn't the only big change C44 faces in 2016. While still Communications Minister, Malcolm Turnbull advised that Community TV licences would not be renewed at the end of 2016. Current Minister, Mitch Fifield, has since confirmed that community TV is set to be switched off nationwide at the end of this year.

But it's not all bad news for C44. In fact, the silver lining is that, just like every other station, community TV is moving online. And given their fibre-to-the-premise NBN connection, C44 is extremely well equipped to help bring the next era of community TV to life online. Working with Hostworks, who built ABC's iView, C44 are currently refining their first online digital platform, which is geared for use on all devices and scheduled to go live by the end of 2016.

Lauren is excited to breathe new life into community TV online, which is set to continue to grow and include more local, grass roots content from Adelaide communities. C44 is firmly committed to engaging more with local events including Tourrific Prospect, the 48 Film Festival, the Fleurieu film festival, Oz Harvest, Womad and the Fringe Festival. The creative team has already started experimenting with the endless possibilities in this new realm.

Lauren and her team are excited to be part of the City of Prospect community and are keen to cover local sporting teams, arts, events and business news. Our next local champions? Young women's Lacrosse team

LACROSSE! PLAY IT, LIVE IT, LOVE IT!

Lacrosse is a fast-paced, skilful sport that combines speed and agility with the essentials of teamwork and strategy; and the outcome is a whole lot of fun! While the use of the lacrosse stick (or 'crosse') and the fast pace of the game may be daunting for first-timers, Lacrosse is actually a non-contact sport in juniors (boys and girls to 12 years) and women's leagues. The main (field) lacrosse season runs from April to September, while there are other competitions as well, with indoor, pre-season, high school and university competitions all part of the Lacrosse SA program.

If you've heard of lacrosse before then you've probably already thought about giving it a go, but might not be sure where to start. Well, you'll be pleased to hear we have a great local team right here in Prospect: the Eagles Lacrosse Club. You might have already seen them going through their paces at Charles Cane Reserve on Churchill Road.

The Eagles offers a family-friendly environment in which every player has the opportunity to fully develop their lacrosse skills, as well as getting involved in off-field roles such as coaching, umpiring and club officiating. The club caters for boys, girls, men and women between the ages of 5 and 50, and new players are always welcome.

So, if you feel like getting across the game of Lacrosse, check in with the Eagles!

Lacrosse is a fast-paced, skilful sport that combines speed and agility with the essentials of teamwork and strategy

STAY ACTIVE, STAY CONNECTED, STAY WARM

Winter is a good time to check up on friends, relatives and neighbours who may be vulnerable to cold weather, with winter being especially dangerous for older people and people with pre-existing or chronic health conditions.

It's common for all of us to feel less motivated during the winter months and getting out of bed can sometimes feel like a chore, so it's a great idea to make sure your loved ones are staying active. Encourage them to integrate exercise into their daily lives, whether it be taking the stairs instead of the lift or escalator, or incorporating a daily walk into their normal routine.

Council provides a wide range of social programs for our older residents to keep active and stay connected with their local community. The programs include exercise groups, friendship groups, the Men's Shed, and Strength for Life, to name just a few. Get in touch to find out more about how Council can help with advice and ideas on keeping warm this winter.
