NEIGHBOUR DAY

THE COMMUNITY YOU WANT STARTS AT YOUR FRONT DOOR

Neighbour Day Ambassador and Host of ABC's Gardening Australia, Costa Georgiadis

Neighbour Day is Australia's annual celebration of community, encouraging people to connect with those who live in their neighbourhood. Whether through a cuppa, a picnic in the park, or a message of support, Neighbour Day is the perfect opportunity to say thanks for being a great neighbour and for being there when I need you most.

A 2016 Neighbour Day participant said "I had always wanted to have a great connected neighbourhood but didn't really know where to start. Neighbour Day gave me ideas, tools and an excuse to get on with it. Most people say they have been meaning to get to know their neighbours, but many don't get around to it. Neighbour Day gives a time frame and a sense of urgency."

WHEN?

Neighbour Day is celebrated on the last Sunday in March every year, with the aim of fostering strong personal connections that last the whole year round.

WHY?

The principal aim of Neighbour Day is to build better relationships with the people who live around us, especially the elderly and vulnerable.

Neighbours are important because good relationships with others can (and do) change communities for the better.

The theme for Neighbour Day 2017 is The Importance of Social Connection for the Elderly. Think about how you could connect with your neighbours, and the benefits this could have.

WHO?

Neighbour Day brings together like-minded people, resources and organisations to grow stronger, well-connected communities. We believe that everyone is responsible for Neighbour Day, because the day is about everyone; every person, in every community.

The wonderful thing about Neighbour Day is that it's a community movement; it is communities that help to spread the word about Neighbour Day and join in Neighbour Day celebrations. It's about individuals, families, neighbourhoods, communities and organisations helping to grow Neighbour Day, so that we can all live in communities that are welcoming, kind and supportive.

If you're interested in hosting an event for you and your neighbours, you'll be pleased to know there are grants available for community street events.

For further information on the grant application process, please contact Nigel Dale, Community Event Coordinator on 8269 5355 or admin@prospect.sa.gov.au.

THE AUTUMN GARDEN

PROTECTING OUR BEAUTIFUL TREES

Our green leafy streets are a prominent feature of our beautiful city and we take a lot of pride in maintaining them.

The unexpected storm last season after Christmas knocked down a few of our beloved trees and a few others suffered broken limbs. Luckily we take great care in maintaining our trees, so we didn't have any major accidents. It took a bit of time but we have cleaned up all the damage and will replant any trees we have lost.

As always, we encourage the help of our community in the maintenance of our street trees; a bucket of water here and there during dry periods can really help! If you do see any problems with Council's trees, please report any issues to our Customer Service Team on 8269 5355.

TREES TO PLANT IN YOUR GARDEN:

Crepe Myrtle - Lagerstroemia indica -

A deciduous tree growing up to 8m, it has stunning flowers and can be heavily pruned to a smaller tree size of about 4m, making it suitable for small gardens.

Bella-donna - Brachychiton acerifolius x populneus -

A medium-sized native tree that can grow in a variety of soils and produces large, bright pink flowers.

Jacaranda - Jacaranda mimosifolia -

A stunning spectacle of purple when flowering, this deciduous tree is great for larger north-facing gardens, allowing warm winter sun to penetrate through to your home.

A TOURRIFIC
SUMMER TRIBUTE

On the evening of Tuesday 17 January 2017, the fabulous Tourrific Prospect Street Party returned to Prospect Road and was everything you would expect, and a bit more as Adelaide's must-attend annual street party.

Inspired by the 2017 event theme – 'Our Colourful Community' 2017 Tourrific Prospect was a vivid and rich celebration of the dynamic, cultural diversity of our wonderful community. The street party showcased a vibrant entertainment program of bands, street performers and contemporary artists in a fringe style setting. Club5082 was back and louder and better than ever, with rock band enthusiasts treated to a line-up of heavy rock tribute bands all night long.

City of Prospect's one-of-a-kind free fiesta of music, dance, entertainment and fine food and drink, featured 80 curated acts, performing traditional and contemporary Aboriginal, African and Indian cultural music and dance displays all evening. Numerous pop-up street artists and buskers added to the bohemian feel of the evening, intriguing and surprising audiences all through the night.

Of course Tourrific Prospect isn't just about performers, it's also about fine hospitality from over sixty local businesses and an assortment of regional traders. As the sun went down, Tourrific Prospect guests were able to escape the heat and indulge in delicious and affordable global cuisine.

In 2017, Loopy Kids relocated to a temporary circuit adjacent Barker Gardens (due to the building of the exciting new Nova Cinema in Flora Tce) and with the expanded children's zone kids they all had a great time cooling off in the sprinklers under shady trees. Face painting, puppets, and a striking jumping castle had children entertained until well past their bedtime.

The 2017 Tourrific Prospect Street Party once again wowed our community and fans like no other street party in Adelaide. Together we experienced a feast of colour, sounds, cultures and entertainment and a family night to remember.

A very big thank you to all those who helped make our street party the best in Adelaide; our volunteers, sponsors, local businesses, stall holders, performers, artists and all of you who came out to spend time with family and friends, and made our street party absolutely Tourrific!

Were you at this year's Tourrific? See if you're on Social City (page 25)

THE WOMEN
BEHIND THE SCENES

International Women's Day and CLUB5082

Adelaide is becoming globally recognised for our music culture, and our little corner of the global village is no exception. As International Women's Day draws near, Club5082 is bucking the trend of male domination of the music industry. In 2016/2017, over half of the Club5082 team are women, performing a variety of key roles including live sound mixing, lighting, sound recording, graphic design and hospitality service. City of Prospect takes great pride in employing and supporting young women who are pursuing their passion and forging a career in the growing live music sector, and we are thrilled to introduce some of them to you.

Lucy Ligertwood, Club5082 Lighting Technician

Lucy is studying music technology at the Elder Conservatorium of Music, and is an avid drummer pursuing a career in percussion.

She says social views are changing; all it takes is for one person to go out on a limb and give you a fair chance to learn and succeed. Her advice to young women considering entering the music industry is to just go for it. If it's what you love doing, work hard and the results will come!

Lisa Lane Collins, Club5082 Sound Technician

Lisa started working in the industry nine years ago, and has been with Club5082 for three years. She has started her own budding Sound & Hire company and sub-contracts work to other young female technicians. Lisa says there are a lot of influential women in the Adelaide music scene, who work at places like Nexus Arts, Adelaide Town Hall and the Adelaide Festival Centre, so seek them out.

Lucy and Lisa behind the scenes at Club5082

There are also online groups for women working in sound and some great local and international sites for connecting with other techs. Lisa says these connections are invaluable because "we walk a slightly different path to our brothers."

City of Prospect is proud to support Lisa, Lucy and our other female Club5082 staff to further develop their careers in the music industry.

Club5082 is held fortnightly on Friday evenings from 7pm at Prospect Town Hall showcasing Adelaide's freshest bands and solo musicians.

NEW HOMES FOR OUR
FRIENDS

As part of Council’s ongoing commitment to biodiversity, Council has installed bird boxes in streets where White Cedar Trees have been removed as part of Council’s White Cedar Removal program. The bird boxes provide an opportunity for shelter for those species of birds, such as Rosellas and Lorikeets, that would naturally nest in hollows previously provided by the White Cedars. Installing bird boxes provides these cavity-nesting birds with a safe place in which to raise their young and maintain the biodiversity of the area.

REDUCING WASTE WITH KESAB

As part of Council’s commitment to ongoing education around its Waste Management System, Council will be working with KESAB to deliver a face-to-face “doorstepping” campaign. Unit blocks from the suburbs of Prospect, Nailsworth and Collinswood, which together comprise a total of 50 residences, have been selected for assessment and education.

The education program promotes the hard waste collection service (to deter illegal dumping), provides information on the process of recycling and organics (to reduce contamination rates in recycling and green organics bins) and seeks feedback on why some residents do not participate in recycling.

Keep an eye out for your friendly Council staff, or find out more about Council’s approach to waste management at www.prospect.sa.gov.au/waste.

KESAB will also be delivering education sessions to schools and kindergartens across City of Prospect, which will include having a qualified waste auditor assess the bins and waste contract of the schools, with recommendations provided to support any necessary changes. Students at the schools will enjoy recycled papermaking workshops, where they have the opportunity to create different types of recycled paper products. In addition, worm farm and composting workshops will provide students with practical understanding of composting and worm farm systems, and the importance of diverting food from landfill.

DIY ADVICE FOR YOUR AUTUMN GARDEN

AUTUMN'S AGENDA

With the heat of summer still fresh in our memories, the cooler days of autumn are here to provide some relief and remind us that it's the perfect time to spruce up the garden. It's no secret that the success of your garden in spring and summer depends on how much effort you put in during the cooler months. Maintenance activities such as planting and pruning are particularly important, but take the opportunity to pamper your garden with some revitalising treatments for the best results.

PAMPERING YOUR GARDEN

Properly preparing the soil is essential to establishing the best foundation for gardening success. A cost-effective way to improve your soil is as simple as introducing compost. Compost can be made easily using veggie leftovers, fallen leaves and grass clippings, and will provide the soil with much-needed nutrients; your plants will love you for it!

You can also use farm yard manure, or organic-based fertilisers such as blood and bone, to add nitrogen and phosphorous to the soil. Keep in mind that the variety in plant species and soil conditions will affect the type (and amount) of fertiliser required to make your plants thrive.

ESTABLISHING NEW PLANTS

There are few things more rewarding than watching your garden grow successfully, and establishing new plants is often the most exciting step in transforming the look, smell and feel of your garden. With summer ending and the soil still warm, now is the perfect time to plant your evergreens. Position them in an area of the garden where they will continue to catch the sun as the shadows grow longer (and the days cooler) in the coming months.

After preparing your soil and planting your plants, lay a thick layer about 7–10cm of mulch throughout the entire garden. Mulching the garden helps keep moisture in the soil and minimises weed growth. This will also help keep the fertiliser in the garden if there is heavy rainfall, and can help minimise odours. You may find that mulching the garden beforehand and planting through the mulch may be easier if you have a lot of new plants.

For a low-maintenance garden, choose plants that come from areas of similar rainfall to where you live. Generally all plants need extra care when being established so make sure you look after your new garden, particularly in the first 8–13 weeks. Trees will need extra care over a longer period to establish well. Remember that water is absorbed by the roots of the plant, not the leaves, so water the soil surrounding each plant well. The best times to water are during the early morning or in the evening.

PRUNING EXISTING PLANTS

Most plants have specific pruning needs that should be assessed based on individual characteristics and placement within the garden. Removing lower branches and properly thinning out the canopy of backyard trees will assist in allowing additional light to your understorey planting. Seeking some independent advice from a qualified arborist may be appropriate for your larger trees, to ensure that they remain healthy and structurally sound.

Many shrubs should be pruned back to keep your garden looking neat and tidy. The amount of pruning and maintenance depends on the type of plant so keep that in mind when choosing plants for your garden. Some plants, like many Australian natives, need a bit of a prune but it is easy to do. Pruning up to a third of the growth after flowering will keep your natives looking dense, formed and attractive.

Remove any dead plants in your garden as they can spread disease and infection.

TAKING CARE OF YOUR LAWN

Taking care of your lawn can be quite different to how you look after your plants in the garden. Follow these simple maintenance tips to keep it healthy and green.

Mowing: cut your lawn according to the type of grass you have. Some types of grass prefer being cut at a higher height as they are less exposed to water evaporation. This can also help prevent weed growth.

Aeration: aerating the lawn during the growing season helps get oxygen, water and nutrients to the root system. There are spike aerators which poke holes in the lawn, but more effectively is the plug aerator which is a machine that removes small plugs of soil from the lawn. Fertiliser and wetting agents can be applied after aeration, and you can fill the aeration holes with sand if you don't want a lawn full of holes.

Feeding: even if you don't aerate your lawn, applying fertiliser evenly across your lawn will help keep it looking healthy.

Watering: water your lawn regularly when there hasn't been any rain, either early morning or in the evening.

Sunlight: try to keep your lawn warm during the cooler months. Trimming back tree branches around the lawn can allow sunlight to penetrate, while any fallen leaves should be raked up.

Keeping your garden looking healthy and growing well suits all skill levels and ages, with the added benefit that learning about gardening can encourage a greater care for the wider natural environment. Call in to Council's Library to explore a range of gardening books and magazines; you (and your garden) will be glad you did!

CHANGING LIVES THROUGH LANGUAGE

FINDING YOUR VOICE

Local Prospect resident Koola Pehlivanidis arrived in Australia from Petres, Greece almost 60 years ago, aged 21. On her arrival she spoke no English and was told by the Official, "You've come here to work, not to learn English."

Many years later, Koola was still determined to learn English and eventually arrived at Prospect Library, where she was told "You've come to the right place. We can help you." That was about 20 years ago now, and Koola has been attending English classes on and off in the Cottage ever since.

"Attending the English as a Second Language Class and the individual tutoring has changed my life" she said. "Before, I needed an interpreter when I had to see a doctor and I had to wait for my son to

As well as the increased independence and confidence she has gained, Koola also enjoys the social aspect of the class and says she plans to keep going for another 20 years!

AUSTRALIA DAY AWARDS AND THE WINNER IS...

Citizen of the Year Awards are proudly presented by the Australia Day Council of South Australia and administered by local Councils. The purpose of the awards is to recognise those people in our local communities who are making outstanding contributions. The award winners for City of Prospect were announced on the main stage at the recent Tourrific Prospect event.

1. Citizen of the Year - Kay Seeary.
2. Young Citizen of the Year - Megan Davies.
3. Community Event of the Year - Diwali Festival in St Helens Park (November 2016). This event was a new cultural program for the Prospect Community that showcased our vibrant local Indian Community.

The occasion of Tourrific Prospect and presentation of the Australia Day awards provided the opportunity for Mayor David O'Loughlin to announce the special Freedom of the City of Prospect Award to Ann Newmarch.

Usually made available in March of each year, the Freedom of the City of Prospect Award is an honour awarded to persons of distinction who have given eminent and devoted service to City of Prospect and Local Government for the benefit, enjoyment and welfare of the citizens.

VOLUNTEERING IS GOOD FOR YOU!

CHRIS WHITESIDE

"Live life to the fullest", says Prospect volunteer, Chris Whiteside, a creed she has lived by for most of her life.

Chris is retired, a regular bushwalker, canoeist, and Justice of the Peace, and she has dedicated her life to helping others since she was 18 years old. She is a doer, a leader, and always there helping people, "which is what I like doing," said Chris. "I've always believed you should give something back to the community."

In the past, this meant juggling her full-time, 10-hour-day job with her volunteer work at the Youth Hostels Association of South Australia, as well as with the Duke of Edinburgh Award Scheme (on the Expedition and Gold Award Panel).

In recognition of her outstanding commitment, in 2005 she received the Medal of the Order of Australia for services to youth, an achievement she will never forget. "That was the biggest honour I have had bestowed upon me," said Chris, reflecting on the incredible moment.

When asked what it was she enjoyed about volunteering, Chris didn't hesitate and got straight to the point, saying "If people feel good because I've done something for them, then I feel good."

"I've always believed you should give something back to the community."

Retirement certainly hasn't slowed Chris down; she travels the world, organising trips for friends across Australia, Europe and Canada. Her volunteer work remains a key part of her life as well. Besides her Justice of the Peace work for City of Prospect, she volunteers as a bus driver, tour guide, a cook for Meals on Wheels, and has now signed up as a Park Angel!

DIGITAL DRIVE

PROSPECT POWERS AHEAD

The number of business start-ups in Prospect has been increasing since 2013. Previously business start-ups and business exits were broadly equivalent. However, in mid-2013 start-up businesses began to exceed exits resulting in approximately 50 new businesses in the 2013/14 financial year. The majority of other Council areas in SA were only growing slowly or flat-lining, while Prospect's growth in new businesses was 2.4% in that financial year.

The actual reason for the increase is most likely linked to Council securing the nbn™, which (while not fully rolled out until 2016) was widely publicised in 2013. Many businesses have said that they moved to Prospect to take advantage of the nbn™ roll out.

This data is available from the Australian Business Register and is only released intermittently. City of Prospect will continue to receive this information directly and regularly measure new start-ups.

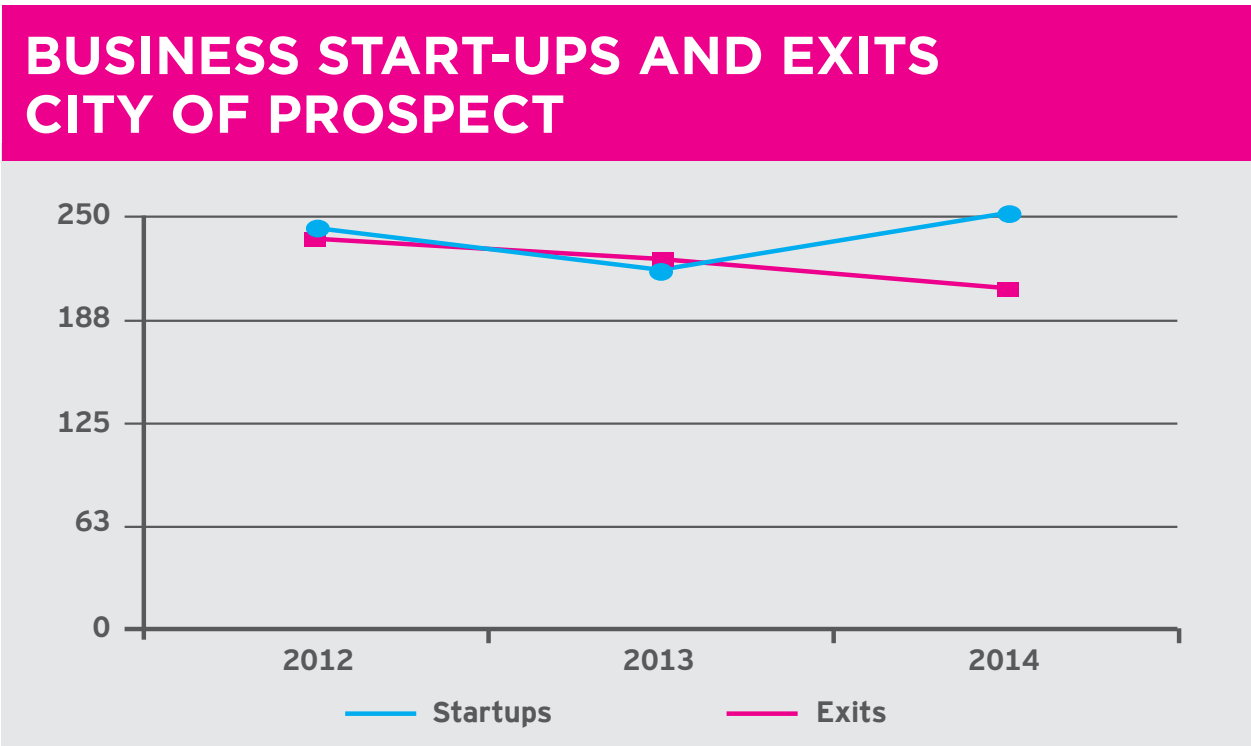

A Report by University of SA (2016) on Usage of the nbn™ in Prospect found that 60% of businesses surveyed wanted faster broadband speed, while over 80% of businesses surveyed said that broadband has increased their sales and revenue. The increase in revenue and the growth in new businesses is the ultimate proof of the benefit of the Digital Drive of Council.

City of Prospect has the digital advantage:

- Only Council where every street provides the opportunity for businesses and homes to be fully nbn™ connected with Fibre to the Premises
- For 5 out of 6 years City of Prospect have been included as part of the 21 Smartest Communities in the world as assessed by the USA-based Intelligent Communities Forum

- Network Prospect provides Business Networking events, a Business Directory and a Prospect Professionals group
- 8 Broadband Cafés, which are great places for people to browse the internet or have business meetings
- 2 Co-Working Spaces - Little City and the Business Hub

FASTEST FREE PUBLIC WI-FI IN SOUTH AUSTRALIA STARTS IN PROSPECT

City of Prospect successfully tested its Prospect Super Fast WiFi at the Tourrific Prospect Street party on 17 January. Prospect now has the fastest free public WiFi on any main street in South Australia.

Visitors to the vibrant event enjoyed access to some of the fastest public Wi-Fi in Australia. Prospect Super Fast WiFi was available for trial by street party goers within the Prospect Road Village Heart, between Rose St / Labrina Ave in the South to Gladstone Rd / Alpha Rd in the North.

At the event, Mayor David O'Loughlin said, "It's great that we were able to trial this world class Wi-Fi system at our iconic Tourrific Prospect Street Party. Prospect Super Fast WiFi is an important step in cementing our position as a globally recognized Smart City. The Prospect Super Fast WiFi initiative will help create a vibrant network of young entrepreneurs and digital natives who will use the system to connect nationally and internationally. Already we have two co-working spaces set up in the Village Heart. Prospect Super Fast WiFi will ensure that professionals and businesses can meet and engage in the main street with high speed broadband."

The publicly available Prospect Super Fast WiFi further builds upon City of Prospect's unique advantage of having nbn™ fibre to every premises in the city, providing the opportunity for every home and every business to tap into super-fast broadband.

The initiative seeks to encourage more people to come back again to Prospect Road's Village Heart to experience the fastest Public Wi-Fi in South Australia, and a fantastic coffee from the local cafes that have become great places to both relax and work.

Returning visitors to the Prospect Village Heart are able to instantly logon to Prospect Super Fast Wi-Fi each day between 7am and 12am to browse the web, check emails, stream video, check-in for business meetings and more.

The initiative seeks to encourage more people to come back again to Prospect Road's Village Heart to experience the fastest Public Wi-Fi in South Australia.

The project has been brought to life by City of Prospect's Network Prospect team who are encouraging users of Prospect Super Fast Wi-Fi to also visit the Network Prospect website, which has a directory of over 200 local businesses and professionals. Users can also elect to receive updates of popular events in City of Prospect, along with the business-focused Network Prospect news.

Prospect Super Fast Wi-Fi has been made possible via a partnership between City of Prospect, local businesses and Vintek, who supplied and installed network infrastructure. SITE SELECTED FOR COMMUNITY HUB, LIBRARY AND INNOVATION CENTRE

City of Prospect took a significant step towards developing its new Community Hub, Library and Innovation Centre (CLIC) at its January Council meeting, deciding that this exciting development will be at located at its current Civic facility at 128 Prospect Road, Prospect.

The development of the new CLIC includes co-location of the civic facilities and Council administration; a mixed use facility with a development partner; relocation of the depot functions; and sale of the Council-owned Depot site at 82–90 Johns Road as well as its land holding at 218 Main North Road, Prospect.

There was considerable debate about the merits of the site, and whether the Depot and adjoining land should be sold to a developer and what this meant for the heritage listed Tram Barn. The Tram Barn is a State Heritage listed building currently used as a storage facility for Council operations, but reflects the history of public transport in Prospect. Council has called for a report from staff on whether ownership of the Tram Barn portion of the Depot site could be retained by Council without impacting on the financial sustainability of the project.

A number of factors were taken into account in reaching this decision, including location, centrality, heritage, safe access, parking, proximity to complimentary land uses, cost, cost efficiencies over time, benefit to the community, projected visitation numbers, population density, growth in population, and other issues. Further, the development offers the opportunity to consolidate Council services which will provide efficiency savings to its operational costs.

It is an important decision for Council, which is being forced to relocate its library, digital hub and gallery services to a new site by mid-2019. The Department for Education and Child Development (DECD) will re-acquire the site at the conclusion of the current lease, following many years of Council servicing the community from the Thomas Street Centre.

LET'S MAKE 2017 YOUR YEAR OF LEARNING!

This year is set to be a big year of learning for the Prospect community, with a wide range of free workshops being offered at the Digital Hub.

If you've never heard of a 'Digital Hub', it's a community-based computer training and internet access point, providing easy access to computers and other internet-connected devices. Located within the Thomas Street Centre, City of Prospect's Digital Hub is a friendly, social environment offering residents and business owners free assistance and advice with digital technology. It allows people to explore technology in a supportive and knowledgeable environment, so that they can develop the digital literacy skills necessary to realise the benefits that come with being part of a high speed broadband-enabled community.

The Digital Hub is a hive of activity at times, with programs and presentations targeting a range of areas of interest. This year the team that bring you the Hub are keen to hear more about what you'd like to learn!

New to the Hub, Tara Lee has developed a range of workshops for the public, and wants to hear from you.

Digital Literacy Coordinator, Tara Lee, is excited to find out what the community is interested in. "We've already received some great feedback from people about what they're keen to receive training in. Accessing eBooks and eAudiobooks seems to have the highest demand at the moment, with loads of free titles available from Public Libraries now. We'll be teaching people how they can download these onto their devices from the Prospect Library Catalogue."

The Digital Hub has developed an online survey to gather public responses, and sessions will then be run based on community demand. To have your say, and register your interest in a free digital workshop, you can jump online to www.tinyurl.com/digi2017.

Later on in the year, the Hub will also be hosting an eSafety expert from the Office of the Children's eSafety Commissioner. The facilitator will deliver a free workshop Thursday 27 July aimed at parents and carers, focusing on how to help young people safely navigate the online world. Register for the eSafety Workshop online at www.bit.ly/prospectevents, or call 8342 8015.

Of course, the Hub still offers individual training sessions to assist with their technology queries. Volunteers are on hand to assist Tuesday to Friday every week. As these are always popular, bookings are essential. To book a 45 minute session online, go to www.bit.ly/prospecthub, or call 8342 8015.

Have you visited the Prospect Digital Hub yet? All residents and business owners of City of Prospect are welcome. Simply contact the friendly staff to explain what area of technology you need assistance in, and they will book you in to a one-on-one or group training session. It's that easy! They will work with you, at your own pace, and there's no pressure. You can book as many sessions as you need; and they're free!

The Hub has been located within the Thomas Street Centre, accessible through the Library, since 2013, offering bespoke training to cater for the individual needs of the community, all at no charge. If you love teaching others, and have great skills in using mobile devices or online software, why not share them as a volunteer?

To find out more, about any of the programs mentioned, please contact the Hub on 8342 8015.

We look forward to seeing you soon at the Digital Hub!

I hope you enjoyed the best of summer in our great city – from the Tourrific street party to the Twilight Concerts, our rejuvenated playgrounds, our fabulous and welcoming sporting clubs and the best of our food and art trail – including SA's best cafe for 2016, the legendary Coffee Barun on Main North Road.

As Autumn arrives and the SA events season hits overdrive, at Council we take time to reflect on the year to date and consider what we should be striving for in the year ahead. Yes, it's budget time!

If you have ideas for the city, or a project that needs funding, approach us with a formal proposal we can consider. Equally, and just as importantly, it's time for those who want us to spend less to tell us what you think we can cut or do less of. It's also time to consider what other levels of government are imposing on us, or taking away, and what impact their decisions will have on our budget.

"All of our budget deliberations are held in public and you are more than welcome to attend any meeting, or respond to our draft budget during the consultation period in May and June."

All of our budget deliberations are held in public and you are more than welcome to attend any meeting, or respond to our draft budget during the consultation period in May and June.

We are the only level of government that has full public disclosure of our budget discussions and decision making. We are the only level of government that ask you to comment on a draft budget, and we listen, and we often change it in response to your feedback.

"If you have ideas for the city, or a project that needs funding, approach us with a formal proposal we can consider. "

None of our budget deliberations are done in back rooms, or in secret. Nor is our budget simply announced and defended. It is done openly, and transparently, and only locked in after you've had a chance to see it, comment on it, and perhaps even change it.

And we are the only level of government that uses and publishes ten year financial plans to inform each year's budget. Our ten year plans are informed by comprehensive asset management plans for every pipe, road, footpath and even tree in the city, with some asset lives mapped out to over 100 years. So we know when things will wear out and when to budget to keep on top of the maintenance task.

Okay, I might sound a bit too excited by all this, and maybe you aren't so much. Yet sometimes we take things for granted, and criticism from outside the glass house is easy. I just wanted to assure you that we agonise over every decision and every cent to get the best possible result for our community.

I hope you like what we've been able to achieve in recent years, and are as excited about our future as I am. If you are, or even if you are not, now is a great time to get in touch and tell us, so we structure next year's budget accordingly.

"...we listen, and we often change it in response to your feedback."

Local Government; it's local, and we are committed to governing with you – not just for you.

Up for a coffee?

BOLD PLANS FOR OUR FUTURE

The changing face of Churchill and Prospect Roads is becoming increasingly evident.

While we have copped a lot of criticism, I thought it necessary to remind ourselves why the Council took such a bold step to go down the path of medium density development on the transit corridors of our city.

Prospect is over-reliant on residential rates. We don't have a lot of scope for commercial and industrial development so we cannot benefit from these sectors in revenue raising as other Councils do. We had to look for ways to reduce the burden on our residential ratepayers and the businesses that support them. Increasing housing density in specific areas of the city provided us with that opportunity.

Our community tells us that they love Prospect for its community feel, leafy streets and character housing stock. There was, and still is, a great deal of dissatisfaction whenever a house was demolished and something that would be better suited to a new housing estate went up or there was a subdivision that crammed in as many buildings at it could at the expense of private open space. Our side streets were changing to the detriment of the character and historic importance of our city.

Around 2010, the State Government released its 30-year plan for Greater Adelaide. Here was an opportunity to deal with the upwards pressure on rates and to take control of development on our side streets. By agreeing to increases of height and density on our main transit corridors, we were able to better protect our side streets with 11 new character zones and increased scope of our Historic Conservation Zone. This does not mean it's impossible for a house to be demolished. What it does mean is that what replaces it must be within the character of the street. And more importantly for residents, it makes it more difficult to subdivide in more of our streets.

In better protecting our character and easing the rate burden we had to make some tough decisions. While the development on Churchill and Prospects Road may not be popular with everyone, it was a necessary means to an end.

KEEPING OUR INVISIBLE

Council services should generally be visible. We want to see where our rate money goes and enjoy the services that it provides. Better roads and footpaths, parks and gardens, libraries, community events, rubbish collection and the like.

During our recently completed strategic plan, some of the feedback we received mocked our target to create 'visible and appreciated services' as being too obvious.

Stormwater management bucks this trend though. A properly functioning stormwater management system should be invisible. We have a problem when stormwater, flooding and its impacts become visible.

Recent weather events have had their impact on our community over the past few months. In particular the western parts of Prospect where terrain is low around Alexandra Street and Stan Watson Reserve are two of what would be a number of locations where stormwater incidents have been reported, and residents in our community adversely affected.

Parts of our stormwater infrastructure are over 90 years old and were designed with different technologies and loads in mind. New carports, sheds, pergolas, dwellings and landscaped areas increase stormwater run-off that needs to be processed and cleared with existing infrastructure.

The regional impact of stormwater management is also an important consideration as we need capacity down-stream (crossing other council areas) during times of peak flow in order to ensure the stormwater collected in our community can flow, ultimately out to the Port and sea or to more environmentally sustainable alternatives.

The importance of a robust stormwater management system, while invisible, cannot be understated. Council is in the process of reviewing a number of opportunities to improve our stormwater system, its strength and resilience to cater for increased and changing demand.

CHERISHED MEMORIES OF

Some interesting items about Prospect Council area I've collated as a Prospect Local History Group member:

- Prospect Road (Eliza Street), first a lane from Highbury Street to Marian Place, was opened up as a road to Fitzroy Terrace from Highbury Street in 1858.
- Blackfriars College, when owned by the Johnson family, had a wire-netted enclosure for emus, which were a great attraction, on Prospect Road and Highbury Street corner.
- The area around Harvey Street, Nailsworth around 1848 was covered with dense scrub of mostly pines, mallee, peppermint and wattle. Thorngate was open country. Prospect Village was as far north as Pulsford Road.
- A large lake about four feet deep in places existed in the parklands between North Adelaide and Prospect with excellent duck shooting and bathing. Other lakes were formed in the lower portion of the district where water used to flow from the higher levels.
- The first North Adelaide Football Club (Roosters) player to run onto the new Prospect Oval in 1922 was Daniel O'Brien, who lived for over 70 years of his life raising his family in Myrtle Street.
- Camroc Street, Prospect derives its name from a local artist and poet's name spelt backwards – Andrew MacCormac – whose portraits hang in Parliament House, the Art Gallery of South Australia and both Adelaide City and Gawler Council chambers.
- The name "Anzac Day" came about when Mr. Robert Wheeler, a draper living in Ballville Street, won a competition in 1915. Several other people chose the same name in their entries so the winner was chosen out of a hat.
- Victoria Cross winner, Major Peter Badcoe, attended Blair Athol Primary School in the 1940's.

HEART

Hi Gang

Well your council has been busy with terrible storms and damage – lost quite a few trees and areas suffering water damage, let's hope we can replace and rectify.

Council has also been busy on keeping you entertained and sharing community events. The Tourrific Prospect Street Party went off well again, great crowd, fairly warm; almost don't need a bike race! I felt so proud to have Ann Newmarch as a citizen and the honour she won on the night. Music in the park was just as great; less people, but still locals enjoying locals.

“Always remember if you spot me in the street and want to raise a concern or just a chat stop me and I will listen.”

We have now made one of the most important services decisions in Council's recent history (mine at least), on the library and community centre. We were down to two locations the Civic Centre on Prospect Road or the Tram barn on Main North Road. At the time of writing the final vote had not been taken, but I can say my vote and support is for the Tram Barn. Whichever place it ends up your councillors are going to give you the best and BIGGER.

Always remember if you spot me in the street and want to raise a concern or just a chat, stop me and I will listen. Love this time of year my teams Broadies, Roosters and Power start their Struggle to become the 2017 Premiers

Also important in your busy lives is half an hour to give a neighbour a hand; if I can do it, so can you.

Stay safe and enjoy the benefits your city and neighbours give us.

‘til next time,
Allen

CONNECTING
FOR MICRO-BUSINESSES

One of the things we do well as a council is to promote ourselves as a place to do business. It brings investment, employment and prosperity into your area and everyone benefits. But we also have to play the cards we're dealt and we need to be realistic about what can be achieved. Ideally a council would like a large marquee employer like a factory or a call-centre, but in Prospect there are limitedx physical opportunities for those types of businesses to set up.

“These days of digital connectivity are allowing more of us to work from home and thus there are more of these one-person micro businesses in second bedrooms and converted garages. All connected and yet all alone.”

So I believe it's time we targeted the opposite end of the market. Let's think small. I was a sole trader working from home for over 20 years. And while the benefits of working from home are numerous there's also an overwhelming sense of isolation. Lead generation, networking and skills development are incredibly hard when there's just you and the dog.

I propose that City of Prospect actively seek out these businesses to become the micro-business capital of Australia. Somewhere that if you set up a home-business, not only will you be working in one of the best parts of the world, but you'll have unprecedented support from your Council, with access to casual co-working and conferencing spaces, regular networking events to build your business, plus workshops and seminars to keep you ahead of your competitors.

We may not have the facility to host large scale manufacturing in Prospect, but that doesn't mean we can't have large scale ambition. We can lead the world from a single computer in a second bedroom in a leafy street.

READY FOR THE SECOND HALF

Stone the Crows ; .it's half time in the current council – two years down, and two years to go. At half time in a football game, the team reviews its progress and works out what needs to happen to win the game.

We recently delivered on Tourrific Prospect- a great success despite not having a race start this year. We have been planning for better facilities, including looking at how we can make the Broadview Oval masterplan workable and affordable, how to turn Main North Road into something more than just a national highway, and how to make sure our design rules are fine-tuned so we continue to have properties that are interesting, appropriate and with a bit of soul.

The extreme weather in 2016 also shows we have to get our drainage better prepared for high volumes of stormwater. Road and traffic issues continue as big concerns for many residents, and making sure our events are fine tuned to what you want reminds us to get our consultation process right.

And of course, by the time this edition goes to print, we would have made a decision on the location of the library – by far the biggest decision this council will make. Wherever it ends up, I have no doubt that it will become a treasured spot for the people in the City of Prospect to visit, both young and old alike. The location is just the first big decision that needed to be made – now we start talking about the design of the building, what sort of services we deliver there, how long it's opened for each week and so on.

I would like to just finish by acknowledging the passing of a wonderful and inspirational Prospect resident, Mr Alan Greig. Alan was well known by many for his great conversation on politics and social issues, and was a strong contributor to the Prospect Men's shed. He will be missed, and our thoughts are with Norma and family at this time.

As always, if you want to discuss any issue, please don't hesitate to contact me.

PROPERTY GROWTH ACROSS CITY OF PROSPECT

8.9% SURGE IN CAPITAL GROWTH IN PROSPECT MEDIAN PRICE FOR 2016

A 20% drop in Prospect homes offered for sale in 2016, compared to 2015, fuelled the strong demand for Prospect properties last year. In particular competition for the fewer character older style homes for sale, both renovated and un-renovated and across all price ranges has in our opinion been the main contributor to the 8.9% growth in median price.

A surge in million dollar plus sales in 2016 reflects both the growing demand for upmarket residences in our very sought after suburbs as well as the fact that residences of this value are becoming commonplace in the area.

From our experience in and observation of the Prospect market last year, vendors' expectations on sale price were frequently exceeded by buyers prepared to pay a premium for these residences.

All other suburbs in City of Prospect experienced an increase in capital growth in median price in 2016.

Turnover in these suburbs was steady except for Fitzroy which saw a nearly 100% increase in sales from 8 in 2015 to 15 last year.

In the suburb of Prospect which had the largest sales turnover, there were 273 sales of homes and units compared with 266 in 2015. Of the 167 homes sold, almost 50% sold above $600K. 41 properties sold above $750K.

Of particular interest were unit sales in Prospect which increased dramatically from 75 in 2015 to 106 in 2016, reflecting the sales of the newly completed units, apartments and townhouses on Churchill and Prospect Roads. Continuing low interest rates and investor activity buoyed by increased capital growth helped support increased prices in the area in 2016.

A surge in million dollar plus sales in 2016 reflects both the growing demand for upmarket residences in our very sought after suburbs as well as the fact that residences of this value are becoming commonplace in the area.

There were 31 million dollar plus sales in the Prospect Council area last year compared with 17 in 2015. Of these 31, 13 were over $1.25 million compared to 6 in 2015, whilst there were 3 over $1.5 million. The standout suburb was Fitzroy where 13 of the total 15 sales exceeded one million, while there were 11 million dollar plus sales in the suburb of Prospect.

At Fenwicks we believe 2017 will see continuing strong demand and price increases at least for the first half of the year.

KINDY KIDS SAY THANK YOU

ST PHILIP'S PRESCHOOLERS SAY THANK YOU FOR A MUCH-NEEDED FACELIFT

Built in the 1950s, St Philip's Kindergarten has been a much-loved institution for families in City of Prospect for generations, but it was recently starting to show its age. Director Alison McKenna said, "We love our Kindy but it was getting a little tired. Our governing council, families and extended local community do a great job of fundraising for improvements, but that was not going to be enough." Through these discussions, a desire to move towards nature play at St Philip's was revealed.

Stage One in the project included painting the exterior of the building (drawing on the donated services of Snyders), arborists' care for the existing trees (provided by Austral Tree Services), installation of sprinklers (with thanks to National 1 Plumbing), along with the establishment of child-friendly flower beds and planting out the beginning of the sensory garden (by LCS Landscapes). Stage Two incorporates the very generous City of Prospect community grant which will be directed to the development of a sensory and magic garden space planned by children.

"What we have achieved is amazing!" said local parent Kellie Bartlam, "Having lived in the area for some time, I have often felt a deep sense of pride in my community, but I was thrilled and touched by the way local businesses in the community have rallied behind our Kindy and we want to say thank you."

As a means to celebrate and thank the generous donors, the preschool hosted an official launch and lunch with thank you tokens (original works of art) from the children. They welcomed guests including the Hon. Kate Ellis MP, David O'Loughlin (Mayor of Prospect), Peter Williamson (National Community Enterprises), Jen Bias (DECD) and Rob Trimboli (Spotless), as well as the generous donor businesses.

“What I love about Prospect is that it feels like home.”

The sense of community reminds me of the Riverland where I was born and raised. I don't know if I chose Prospect or whether Prospect chose me.

After many years of working in real estate in the country, when I joined Toop&Toop I was impressed by their technology and level of service they provided their clients, something that no other agents do.

With the strength of our off-market sales through the ToopVault, and supported by a team working together to achieve exceptional results for our clients, I believe that moving forward Prospect really is in good hands.

I'm excited to be able to use my auctioneering experience and negotiation techniques I've been recognised for, and help my clients achieve an incredible sale result for their home.

There is so much opportunity for home owners in Prospect, and we are witnessing significant demand. Toop&Toop communicate with over 3900 buyers daily who are looking for homes in the area. It's exciting to see firsthand how this is translating into exceptional results for our clients, and how it is contributing overall to the growth in house prices for Prospect.

Telstra Store Northpark

Time is running out.

Telstra's copper network connected to many homes and businesses in Prospect will soon be disconnected to make way for the nbn™. At Telstra Store Northpark we're your local nbn™ specialists and we can take care of your move to the nbn™.

Myth: I don't need the nbn™ because I only use a home phone and don't even want the internet.

Fact:

You DO need to switch to the NBN if you'd like to keep a home phone. The copper network that your current home phone runs from is due to be disconnected.

Call your local nbn™ specialist at Telstra Store Northpark before it's too late!
